

Sustainable development in Brazilian cities

Paulo Cabral

Brazil is showing the world it takes 'sustainability' seriously... This summer, a research institute there released an index ranking more than five thousand Brazilian cities according to their success in reaching United Nations Sustainable Development Goals. It's the first of any country to do so.

CGTN's Paulo Cabral visited the city that came out on top: Sao Caetano do Sul.

Seu navegador não suporta passar video.

<https://america.cgtn.com/2022/09/09/sustainable-development-in-brazilian-cities>

Veículo: Online -> Site -> Site CGTN America

Seção: World Today